PASS MINIMUM OF MEASURES THIS SESSION

Conflicting Groups in Both Houses Hinder Agreement on Bills

NO COMPROMISE SPIRIT
Administration Fears Result of Failure to Enact Farm Relief

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1926, Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Congress may pass a few bills of importance in the next ten days before adjournment but the record on major legislation has been completed. Members of both houses will appeal to the country with about the minimum of achievement for a long session.

The usual excuse offered on a session which begins in December and automatically ends on March 4 is that there has not been time and that the demand for an extra session is not pressing. On that occasion, congress has had plenty of time but nearly everybody recognized the futility of trying to get agreement on dozens of measures that would be the subject of protracted debate if the adjournment date had not been set for the end of this month.

This session of congress has accomplished more than the last but the number of edicts is still the number of edicts. Progress has been made toward party solidarity as the votes on various measures will reveal but basically there is the same tendency toward individualism which has for the last six years made it difficult to work out compromise legislation and unless there is a spirit of compromise, the inevitable result is inaction.

BILLS GET NO WHERE
So most of the meritorious proposals, or rather those which have a meritorious objective but an ambiguous wording or an effect that antagonizes various interests, have not gotten anywhere this session. And it would have done no good to prolong the session for there would have been no chance of agreement.

There still is a bare possibility that a last minute accord on farm legislation will be reached but it is not expected. The truth is many elements in congress would prefer to leave matters as they are, for it leaves an abundance of ammunition for the stump.

Administration leaders are naturally apprehensive. They cannot tell what effect the failure of congress to pass an agricultural relief bill will have on the kind of men named in the Republican primaries, or possibly the complexion of congress itself. If business conditions continue as they are today, the northern Republican are confident few seats will be lost and that there may be some gains. If farm conditions grow no worse most of the losses in the rural districts to the Republican party will be inside rather than outside, for there is always the chance that a situation such as exists today will increase the number of insurgents who make party solidarity difficult of attainment.

GET CREDIT FOR TAX LAW
On the whole, it is a curious mixture of confidence and defiance which runs through the present Republican leadership. Their belief is that the Haugen measure can be defeated by argument on the stump in many sections of the country and that congress will merit approval for having passed a tax reduction law and sundry other measures such as the Wilson River bill providing machinery for industrial peace, and for having adhered rigidly to budget requirements.

This minimum, of course, is by no means inconsequential, yet compared to the last session of congress, it is a better record. Judged by the standard of 12 and 16 years ago when congress could pass a long series of constructive measures this session is a conspicuous example of the difficulties of reconciling group interests. The wonder is not that so little has been passed but that any measures have successfully run the gamut of filibusters, party insurgency and bi-partisan coalitions.

BOY DANCES IN BOAT AND DROWNS FIVE

Drag River Near Sault Ste Marie for Charleston Winner and Friends

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. —(AP)—The joyous cries of youth which encouraged Arthur Tessier as he demonstrated his championship Charleston steps in a rowboat, were changed to screams of horror when the dancer, losing his balance and upsetting the boat was drowned with five companions in St. Mary's river Sunday. Only one lad, Isaac Jonivieux, 15 years old, was saved from the icy waters of the rapids where the boat capsized, although spectators immediately manned boats and went to the rescue.

Three girls and four boys, ranging in age from 13 to 16, and all living in Canadian Sault Ste Marie across the river, set out in the rowboat after they had attended an excursion boat dance Sunday afternoon. Tessier, 15, who won the junior Charleston contest in Canadian Sault recently had been showing an admiring audience at the dance several of the steps which won him the prize and when one youth suggested he repeat his performance in the small boat, he assented.

While the others stamped their feet, sang and applauded Tessier danced enthusiastically. But at the foot of the rapids, onlookers from the shore saw him topple and falling to regain his balance, he fell into the whirling waters. Tessier's fall upset the boat and five others disappeared with him before help arrived. They were Clement Corrier, 13; John Parsons, 13; Emile Carey, 14 and Peggy and Annie McIntyre, 14 and 14.

The bodies had not been recovered late Sunday night when dragging operations were suspended.

U. S. Money On Top

Much of today's foreign news deals with falling currencies. The French franc and Italian lira seem to be heading cellarward. They will no longer buy what they once bought.

But United States money is safe—especially in face of the fact that for a small sum so valuable a commodity as a Post-Crescent classified ad may be purchased.

SENATOR REED WANTS JURY TO SIFT PRIMARY

Probe Operation of Businessmen's Committee Which Aided Vare

Washington—(AP)—A grand jury should consider some of the things that transpired during the Pennsylvania Republican primary, in the opinion of Senator Reed of Missouri, chairman of the senate campaign funds committee.

With Albert M. Greenfield, a heavy financial backer of William S. Vare on the witness stand, Reed Monday sought with only partial success to get at the details regarding operations of the businessmen's committee which supported Vare, and finally turned to the witness and said:

"If I were prosecuting attorney, you would make that explanation to a jury."

The observation followed Greenfield's statement that money sent the businessmen's committee was turned over to Thomas F. Watson, central treasurer of Vare's organization in his successful fight against Senator Pepper and Governor Pinchot for the Republican senatorial nomination.

SENATOR READS LAW
Reed read a section of the law providing that funds collected by campaign committees must be turned over to their own treasurers, but the witness protested that the businessmen's committee "disbursed no money" and that "we were not doing anything that wasn't right."

Just previously Greenfield had been cross examined about a cash contribution of $15,000 made by Jules E. Mastbaum, president of the Stanley Co. of America, and had convulsed the committee room by remarking that it seemed to be the "custom" in Philadelphia to make such contributions in cash. Reed has dissented from the form of the witness' replies and had warned him he must make "direct answers."

Greenfield presented a list of collections by his committee.

"It does not show the $15,000 given by Mastbaum," Reed asked.

"No."

"It doesn't show any contribution by you."

"No."

Examining the stubs of his check book, the witness said he drew out $35,000 on May 10, one check for $15,000 and two checks for $3,000.

The stubs were labelled "Charge to the William S. Vare campaign general fund."

"That was my investment in the Vare campaign," the witness explained.

200,000 HEAR POPE'S VICAR DELIVER MASS

Sixty Thousand Children Clad in White and Gold Sing "Mass of the Angels"

Chicago—(AP)—Throngs of devout worshippers, intent on approaching as near as possible to the altar and the prelates, halted the program of the first general session of the twenty-eighth international Eucharistic Congress of the Catholic church Monday, and the remainder of the program was abandoned.

The communion was barely ended, with John Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate celebrating the solemn pontifical mass, and the papal blessing had been said, when hundreds of the great crowd, estimated within and without the municipal stadium to number more than 200,000 rushed for the altar, compelling the abandonment of the remainder of the program.

Including persons massed outside the stadium nearly a quarter million worshippers braved a misty rain to throng the entrances to the great stadium in Grant park, where fully fifty thousand of them were unable to gain admittance but delayed the procession of vested prelates and clergy for nearly an hour.

It was "children's day" and a choir of 60,000 school children clad in white and gold, the papal colors sang the "Mass of the angels."

Archbishop Michael J. Curvey of Baltimore, successor to the late Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore, presided at the ceremony. Right Rev. Thomas L. Heylon, bishop of Namur, Belgium, and president of the permanent committee of Eucharistic congresses presided.

Beside John Cardinal Bonzano, the legate, 11 other cardinals were enthroned about him.

SENATOR WALSH SPEAKS

Two cardinals, Michael von Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich, Germany, and Louis Ernest Dubois, archbishop of Paris and France, and Archbishop Daniel Mannix, of Melbourne, Australia, and former Senator David F. Walsh of Massachusetts, were the other speakers of the general session.

The afternoon program was one of many sectional meetings of the various language groups.

The mist abated as the sun came out and the sun burst through the clouds and shone brilliantly.

The rectangular stadium, a quarter of a mile wide and a half mile long, was packed solidly to the topmost seats on three sides, and thousands milled about behind a double line of police at the open end of the field. Still other thousands were thronged about the walls, struggling for places of vantage on the understructure of the towering concrete stands.

In the great grassy carpeted arena between the stands, more than 5,000 clergy and the 60,000 school children were massed in a sea of color facing the altar.

FIRE THREATENS ZION BUILDING

Call Waukegan and Kenosha Departments to Help Fight Flames

Kenosha—(AP)—Fire of unknown origin threatened the entire Zion home building at Zion at 10 o'clock Monday morning, doing more than $25,000 damage and driving scores of the occupants of the large building out of their rooms. The Zion, Waukegan and Kenosha fire departments were called to fight the blaze, which broke out between the walls near the bell tower of the building and spread throughout the central section of the building. E. H. Dietert, a Zion fireman, was overcome by smoke and badly burned by acid. Another Zion volunteer fireman was also slightly injured.

Overseer Wilbur Glen Voliva has a suite in the building but the fire did not extend to the extreme southern wing in which his quarters are located. Part of the furnishings from his quarters were carried out of the building along with furniture from other rooms of the home.

ONLY HINT AT DRY QUESTION, FARM RELIEF

Will Nominate Candidates for State and Congressional Offices Monday

St. Paul—(AP)—Only a hint of such national questions as prohibition and farm relief stirred the surface of the campaign prior to Monday's statewide primary in Minnesota to nominate candidates for state and congressional offices.

The prohibition ruffle appeared in the fourth congressional district, which includes St. Paul, where Representative Oscar E. Keller, Republican, favoring the prohibition law, seeks renomination.

One of his opponents, Melvin J. Maas, has a platform including a plank urging modification of the Volstead law to permit light wines and beer. He also came out for placing agriculture on equal basis with industry. The third candidate for the nomination, Fred A. Snyder, stands back of the prohibition law.

6 CANDIDATES UNOPOSED

Congressional candidates in the other nine districts in the state took various stands on farm relief. Six of the incumbents were unopposed on their party ballots for renomination.

Of chief interest to the state itself, however, was the outcome of the races for the major state offices including governor.

Governor Theodore Christianson was opposed for the Republican gubernatorial by Mayor George E. Leach of Minneapolis. The governor ran on an "economy platform" pointing to reductions in state expenses and reorganization of various state departments as reasons why he should be renominated again.

WEALTHY ARGENTINE SPORTSMAN AND COMPANIONS ARE LOCATED AT VIGIA

Buenos Aires—(AP)—Having been missing for seven days on a seaplane flight from New York to Buenos Aires, Bernardo Duggan, wealthy Argentine sportsman and his companions, Eduardo Olivero and Ernesto Campanelli, have arrived at Vigia, Brazil safe and well.

In flying from Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana all trace of them was lost until Sunday when news was received that they had been landed at Vigia Saturday night from a fishing boat, which picked them up after they had descended in rough weather at the island of Maraca, off the Brazilian coast.

The plane had run short of gas owing to buffeting in tempestuous weather. One fishing boat took the aviators aboard, while another towed the plane to the island of Maraca, 300 miles north of Vigia and a short distance from the mouth of the Amazon river.

400 SCRIBES REPORT EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

Chicago—(AP)—More than 400 newspaper correspondents from the four corners of the earth are here filing stories on the Eucharistic congress to their home city papers, officials of the telegraph companies estimated Monday. Their file approximates 500,000 words a day. Father Meany is perhaps the farthest from home, cabling 500 words a day to two dailies of Sydney, Australia.

WON'T SEIZE RULER'S LAND IN GERMANY

National Referendum Decides Not to Confiscate Hohenzollern Estate

Berlin—(AP)—The vast landed estates and other properties of Wilhelm Hohenzollern and other former German rulers are safe from confiscation. A national referendum to decide whether the properties should be expropriated by the state failed to bring out an affirmative vote of half of the eligible electors, which was necessary under the law.

It would have required an affirmative vote of about 20,000,000 to have taken away the holdings of the former ruling houses. The affirmative vote cast was 14,889,708 and the negative vote 54,311. Full 60 percent of the eligible voters remained away from the polls while 35 percent endorsed unconditional confiscation. More than 500,000 ballots were declared defective. Bavaria and other nationalist strongholds rejected the confiscation proposal.

FAVOR CONFISCATION

In President Hindenburg's home town, Hanover, the vote was for taking away the estates of the Hohenzollerns.

The defeat of the confiscation proposal was a blow to the political prestige of the socialists, who strongly favored it.

It now remains to be seen whether the Marx-Stresemann government in view of the defeat of the proposal for confiscation without compensation will be moved to modify its bill concerning royal properties, now before the reichstag.

The referendum was attended by some disorders. There were clashes at Magdeburg and Halle where several communists were killed. The episode of bolshevism which was injected into the last hours of the campaign helped the Hohenzollerns. The people, apparently, feared that such dispossession might be followed by the seizure of private property.

HOLD MAN FOR FATHER'S DEATH

Joseph D. Owens of Milwaukee Is Killed in Shotgun Duel

Milwaukee—(AP)—Harold Owens, 33 years old is held by the police in connection with the death of his father Joseph D. Owens, who was shot and killed Sunday night in a shotgun duel in the Owens' home.

The shooting occurred early in the evening, after the elder Owens had driven his wife from the house with abuse, and caused several callers to leave hurriedly.

According to the story told the police, Harold Owens returned home, after having gone down town when his father became abusive earlier in the evening. His mother who had been at the home of a neighbor told her son to be careful.

Approaching the house, the front door was found to be locked, and he tried to make his way through a rear window. The elder Owens appeared with a shotgun in his hands, and the son, having been warned of his father's ugly disposition, due to intoxication, had armed himself with a similar weapon.

The father aimed the gun at the younger man and his mother, Harold told the police that his father fired twice, before he shot him.

The new route, opened to freight and passenger traffic Monday, traverses northern Iowa and southern Wisconsin, touching Mason City Ia., Madison, and other principal cities of the section. The train bringing the Sioux Falls delegation made the trip in 14 hours.

"I would rather see the University of Wisconsin naked and poor, if she but kept her freedom than to see her clothed and rich if she bought her equipment at the price of her liberty," President Frank declared.

"As long as I remain president of the University of Wisconsin this institution will not with my consent either angle for or accept one cent of support either from private or public sources that implies either an obvious or a legitimately suspected infringement upon the right of scholars of the University of Wisconsin to pursue their investigation without fear of interference and to publish their findings without fear of consequence."

REGENTS ACCEPT GIFTS

President Frank's pronouncement followed the action of the board of regents Saturday in accepting gifts totaling $101,700 including $30,000 from the engineering foundation and $50,000 from the Wisconsin Manufacturers association.

The regents last August, before President Frank came to Wisconsin, passed a resolution that no gifts should hereafter be accepted from incorporated educational endowments or life institutions.

"I covet for the University of Wisconsin, great buildings, broad acres, and ample budgets but only to grow worthy shelter and adequate tools for her spirit of eager and unhampered inquiry," the president said.

Commencement exercises for the 1,459 candidates for bachelor and higher degrees will be held at Randall stadium at 5 P. M. President Frank will deliver a short commencement address at the stock pavilion preceding the presentation of degrees.

Seven honorary degrees will be conferred upon educators and scientists as a feature of the commencement exercises.

Speech Follows Action of Regents in Accepting $101,700

Madison—(AP)—Opposition to acceptance by the University of Wisconsin of any financial support if academic freedom must be sacrificed, was expressed Sunday by President Glenn Frank.

Five thousand seniors, and visitors attending the Baccalaureate services Sunday afternoon greeting with prolonged applause President Frank's assertion that he would oppose any support that tended to dim the glory of the university whose past "has been lighted by the lamp of freedom."

"I would rather see the University of Wisconsin naked and poor, if she but kept her freedom than to see her clothed and rich if she bought her equipment at the price of her liberty," President Frank declared.

PROPERTY VALUATIONS DOUBLE IN 15 YEARS

STEADY RISE IS RECORDED SINCE 1910

Autos in Appleton Increase from 66 in 1910 to 3,391 in 1925

Real and personal property of Appleton is 15 times as valuable as it was 15 years ago, and is more than twice as valuable throughout the county generally as it was in 1910, according to annual assessment figures between 1910 and 1925.

Every year, with exception of 1914 when the total real personal property of Appleton dropped $62,550, since that of the preceding year has been a general rise in real and personal property values in both Outagamie and Appleton.

In 1925 the true value of real and personal property for city and county was fixed at $46,151,866 for Appleton and $115,530,521 for Outagamie co. in the annual report submitted to the county board of supervisors by Leo J. Toonen, assessor of incomes.

These figures were not accepted by the county board however, which reduced estimated valuations of both city and county upon recommendation of the committee of equalization. Appleton's total true value of real and personal property was reduced $5,714,601 by the action of the county board which placed the true value at $40,437,265, while the total true value of the county was set at $109,745,467, instead of $115,530,521, as in Mr. Toonen's report.

Under Mr. Toonen's report the city would pay 39.982 per cent of the total state and county tax, while under the revised report of the equalization committee which was adopted the city's share was 37.20 per cent, a reduction of .0278 per cent, which is still, however, the highest proportion in the 15 years paid by the city. The lowest percentage of the state and county tax paid by Appleton was in 1913, when the city's portion was 29.88 per cent.

INCREASED STEADILY

During the 15 years Appleton real and personal has grown from $15,092,443 to $40,437,265, while the growth in value of property in the county was from $30,208,207 to $109,745,467. In 1925 the aggregate assessed valuation was only 66 per cent of the true value, according to Mr. Toonen's report. In 1920 Appleton was over-assessed by 2 per cent, the report for that year shows the figures for city real and personal property being $25,051,335, assessed valuation, against a true value of $24,454,274.

In 1925 the aggregate assessed valuation of the entire county was only 73 per cent of the true value, according to Mr. Toonen's figures. During 1920 the county aggregate assessment was 84 per cent of the true value, the highest during the 15 year period. Appleton real estate alone in 1910 was valued at $13,133,233, while all county real was valued at $43,129,012. Personal property in the city was $2,860,210, out of total county personal property valuation of $7,079,195. By 1915 these figures had grown to the following: Real estate Appleton $15,269,600; Outagamie co. $5,729,412; personal property Appleton $3,986,555; Outagamie co. $10,010,418. In 1924 Appleton real estate was valued at $25,602,115, while personal property had mounted to $7,084,257. County real estate was estimated at $40,519,857 and personal property at $15,433,627.

As a result of changes made in 1925 by the county board upon recommendation of the board of equalization, several towns petitioned the Wisconsin State Tax commission for a review and readjustment of the equalization. A reassessment will be made during the next few months. World war began Tuesday on the project.

Prior to 1924 real estate sales for the previous five years were used to determine the true valuation. In 1924 a four year basis was used and for 1925 the sales of 1924 were used to arrive at the true valuation under the new law. This accounts in a large degree for the unusual rise in assessment figures, according to Mr. Toonen.

Many articles which were assessed as personal property in 1910 are no longer included. Among these are watches, bicycles, pianos, mortgages, etc.

66 CARS IN 1910

In 1910 Appleton citizens owned 66 of the 112 automobiles in Outagamie co. Appleton autos had an average value of $539.77 each against a county average of $407.93 each, or an aggregate value of $27,322, out of $32,745. Five years later there were 258 automobiles, valued at $519.78 each, and 31 other motor vehicles with an average value of $125 in Appleton, out of 1,055 automobiles with the average value of $362.37, and 145 other motor vehicles each valued at $114.29, in Outagamie co. Automobiles in the city were worth $208,374 in 1915, while those of the county were valued at $459,899.

In 1925 Appleton had 3,391 automobiles and trucks, each valued at $360, making their total value $1,220,760. At the same time the county had 9,509 automobiles and trucks, with an average value of $275 each, and a total value of $2,685,530.

PAPERMILL OFFERS TO SEND EMPLOYEES TO CAMP

Letters are being sent to Wisconsin industrial plants by Colonel G. Stuart, Milwaukee chief of staff of the 1918 Division headquarters asking employers to send some of their employees to citizens military training camp at Camp Sparta, July 8 to Aug. 6 and Fort Sheridan, Aug. 3 to Sept. 1. The Patten Paper Co. of this city has agreed to pay the expenses of two employees at either of these camps, according to P. O. Keener, chairman of enlistments in Outagamie co. An effort will be made to interest two of the Patten employees in the camp project.

Thirty five have enrolled for the camps from this county, according to Mr. Keener. This exceeds the county quota of 23 by 7 or 25 per cent. Two more applications are on file, but have not yet been accepted at Sixth Corps Area headquarters at Chicago.

UNIVERSITY ACCEPTS $101,700 IN GIFTS

Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer and member of the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin attended a meeting of the board Friday and Saturday. The regents decided to accept gifts to the university totalling $101,700 although a resolution was passed by the board last year taking a stand against corporate endowments. It was said, however, that the resolution applied particularly to the Rockefeller and Carnegie endowment foundations and that most other gifts would be accepted. The largest single item in the total of the money accepted was a gift of $50,000 from the Wisconsin Manufacturers association. Another gift of $30,000 from the Engineering Foundation also was accepted.

The board voted to grant degrees to 1,500 members of the senior class who are completing their courses at the university.

MARRIAGE LAWS ARE SUMMARIZED BY COUNTY CLERK

Hantschel Answers Inquiries of Prospective Brides and Grooms

Numerous inquiries are made at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk by prospective brides and grooms regarding marriage license laws, the proper method to make application, and similar questions. To answer these inquiries, Mr. Hantschel summarizes the Wisconsin marriage license law as follows:

"No marriage may be contracted while either of the parties has a husband or wife living, or between persons who are nearer of kin than second cousins. No insane person, epileptic, or idiot is capable, under the law, of contracting marriage.

"A license must be obtained from the county clerk of the county in which one of the parties resides. If both parties are non-residents of the state, the license must be obtained from the county clerk of the county in which the marriage ceremony is to be performed.

"Application for marriage license must be made at least five days before the wedding, unless a court of record shall issue a dispensation waiving the five days. A physician's certificate stating that the male is free from venereal disease must accompany the application. The license fee to the county is 50 cents.

"A license authorizes the marriage ceremony to be performed in any county in Wisconsin excepting when both parties are non-residents of the state. In the latter case the ceremony must be performed in the county where the license is issued.

"Both parties must join in the application for the license.

"Divorced persons cannot obtain a marriage license until one year after the divorce has been granted."

HAUGEN FARM BILL IS DEAD
A week's national reaction to Secretary Mellon's indictment of the Haugen farm bill seems to indicate that it has effectually, for the time being, sounded the death knell of that act. It is regarded as certain that the senate will not pass a measure of this character, that Mr. Mellon's views reflect those of the administration and that if a bill were passed it would be vetoed by the president. But this is by no means all. The attack registered by the head of the treasury department, who is himself a beneficiary of a subsidy analogous in effect though not the same in form, to that to which he objects, has raised a storm of protest throughout the central West. Unless something is done to placate agricultural dissatisfaction in this section of the country the administration is likely to suffer damaging reverses at the congressional election next fall, and even greater damage in 1928. Something must be done to appease this discontent. It would be better to experiment with even unsound measures than to do nothing at all.
Economists of reputation differ as to the merits of the proposals for disposing of crop surpluses under government subvention. Some regard it as eminently unsound and others as impractical. It certainly is doubtful in principle, and its operation presents highly complicated difficulties, and yet it is conceivable that it might be made to work. If it could be made to work there can be no objection to it because it levies an indirect tax on the American consumer by increasing the price of farm products in the home market. When he criticized the bill on this ground, and because it in effect confers a subsidy on agriculture, Mr. Mellon was in deep water. The protective tariff does both of these things, and the industrial enterprises out of which Mr. Mellon has made his fortune have prospered by this government subsidy and by an indirect tax on the consumer.
There is not one iota of reason for subsidizing manufacturing that does not attach to agriculture. In fact, if it came to a choice of preserving the existence of either, the farm industry should have the preference. Moreover, many farmers are coming to see that the tariff policy since the war has served to develop manufacturing at the expense of agriculture, that it has increased the cost of everything the farmer buys without giving him corresponding benefits touching the things he sells. It is small wonder, therefore, that the farmer is demanding a subvention for himself.
Nor will the East be wise if it turns a deaf ear to Western demands. The East may control the policies at Washington today, but if it is politically wise it will consent to share this control with the agricultural West. The West has borne the burden of industrial protection without compensation long enough. The money involved in trying out government subsidies to agriculture is a minor matter. The effectiveness of the remedy is the thing that counts. We should not refuse to try out the Haugen plan or any similar plan because it will raise the cost of living to the workman or to the consumer in general. The case rests on the results to agriculture. If the government cannot devise a plan that will accomplish these results without violating, as it believes, sound economic laws, then it is up to it to give a trial to other remedies. Mr. Mellon's letter denouncing the Haugen bill bids fair to let loose a movement against the administration of serious consequences.

KENOSHA SHOWS GOOD SENSE
The city of Kenosha has voted by a substantial majority to retain the city manager form of government. This system has been in effect four and a half years. The election brought out the largest vote in the history of Kenosha and it was stubbornly fought. It was the politicians and persons with special grievances who wished to overturn the managerial form of government. The politicians are never satisfied with any kind of government that represents efficiency and economy. They want a government which gives them widespread latitude for their operations and for spending money out of which they may profit directly or indirectly. Too often they mislead the people into believing that their professions of "uplift" are sincere. The city manager system has given Kenosha one of the best municipal governments in the country, as it has in other cities where it has been adopted. The refusal of the voters to abandon it is not only a victory for better city government, but it testifies to the intelligent interest of the people of that city in public affairs.

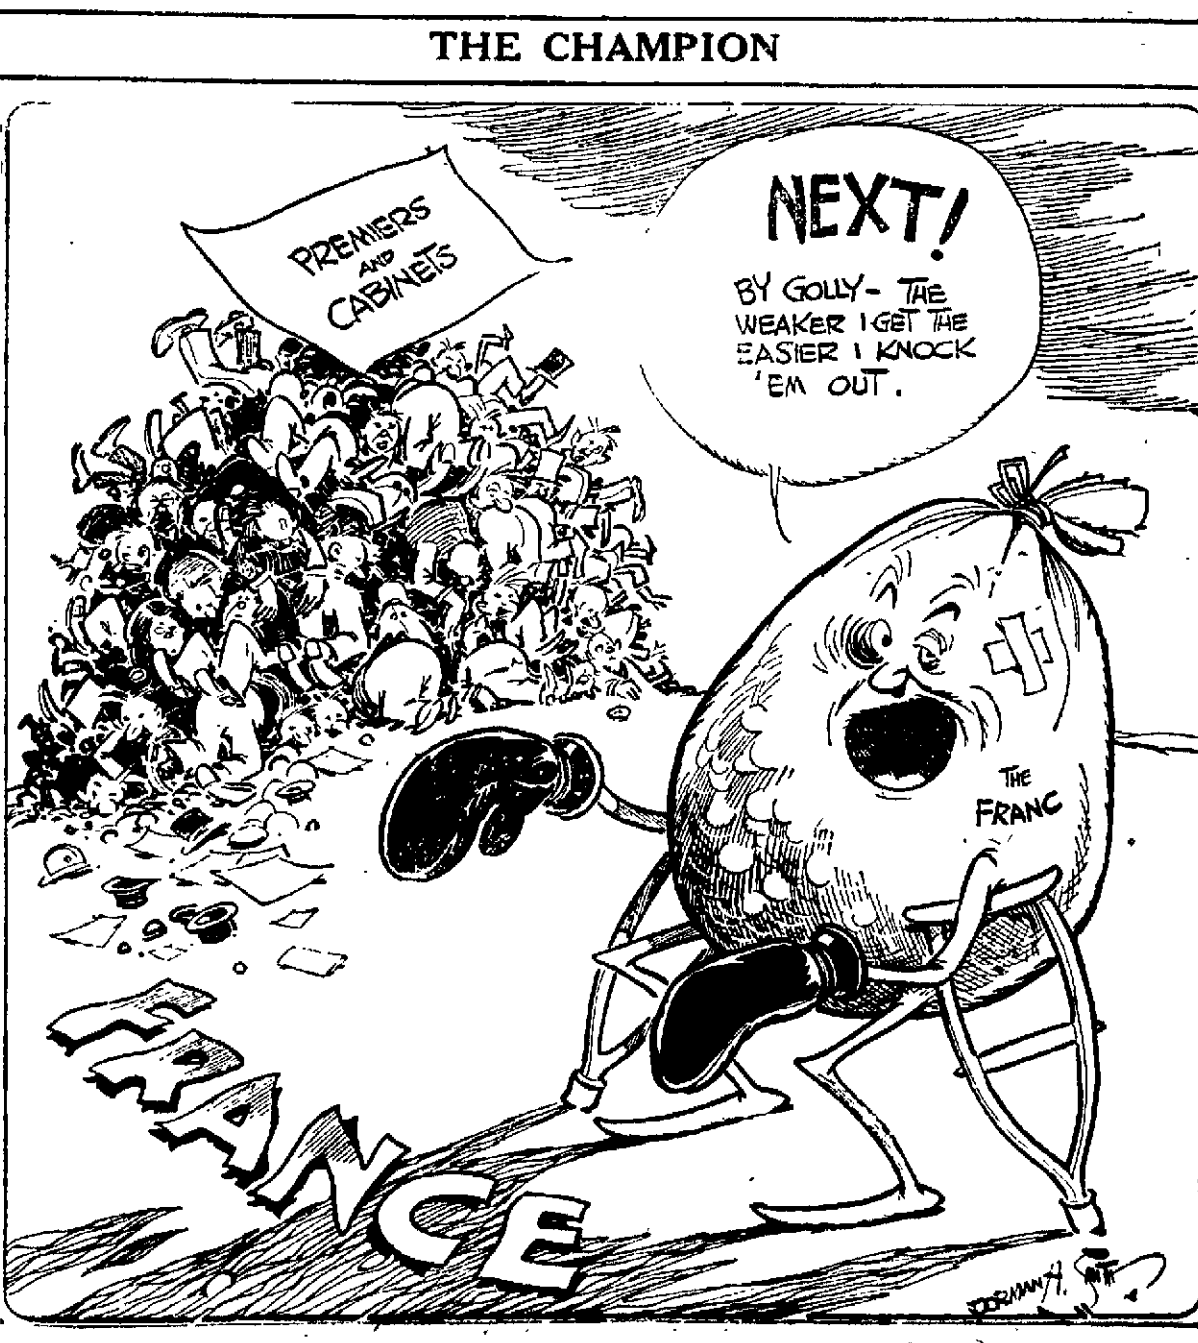

THE LONGER DAY
A barefooted boy runs across the sun-flecked forest floor. It is vacation time, a long sweet day in the open. The boy pauses to look at a strange flower. It is strong, young, straight and colorful. He is like it as he stands in the forest's shade; youthful, brave, shielded from the sun and from cares that wilt. It is June 21 and the longest day, but tomorrow will be as sunny, the forest as cool, the swimming hole as pleasantly warm.
A man breaks rocks in the noonday heat. His shirt is discolored with sweat. It is June 21 and hot, the longest day of the year. But it is like any other. Tomorrow there will be more rocks to break, and the next day more, for 10, perhaps 20 years, until the days merge into a maze of stone, and the swinging arm grows as mechanical and as bloodless as the arm of the steam crane that lifts them for him to break.
A girl sits at the piano. She has been playing, but the music stirred a dream within her, so she sits gazing through the window that opens upon the fairland of the future. Her dream now is her sweetheart, tomorrow it will be her husband, and then she will have a dream for her boy. It is June 21, the longest day, but her dream and life are longer.
An old man, sitting in a deep chair, watches the long shadows melt into twilight. The noonday heat and the storms have passed, and the music from within has died away. It is the evening of June 21, the longest day. The air is sweet with a breeze that brings memories from the old swimming hole in the forest.

MAY SHORT HAIRED FEMALES SMOKE?
A reader says: "I see in our paper several days ago that you have changed your mind in regard to bobbed hair and girls' participation in certain contests."
Which reminds me of the remark of the old lady who was taken for a ride in a neighbor's new car: "This is a prosperous looking village—wasn't it?"
No, doctor, you haven't changed your mind. The reader points out, "You have only lowered your standards. One can get used to almost anything but that does not justify the offense. There are no fashions in the laws that define decency and art. Once art, always art. Once an indecency, always an indecency. Refinement and culture always were and always will be virtues. No styles, fads or fancies can change that. If we begin lowering our standards unconsciously, thinking we are changing our minds or revising our views, where will we finally end? Wasn't the real reason you objected to bobbed hair the fact that it was pioneered by red lighters and fast women?" ("Jim.") Ouch, "Jim," you flourished a mean style. Before I enter my plea let me quote a bit from another letter: "We should like your opinion on smoking. Is smoking more injurious to women than it is to men? Does an expectant mother who smokes thereby injure her unborn child?" (Mrs. B. V. H.)
"Jim" is right about the fact on which I based my objection to the cropping of the hair of women. This mutilation was a common and unpleasant sight in the jails, charity wards and other institutions for erring women of the past generation. There is no question that the morons and defectives or delinquents were first to sacrifice their hair. But in confessing my "change of mind" about this I said I wished to acknowledge that I had made a mistake in trying to promulgate the idea that it was reprehensible for a woman or girl to have her hair cut. I did not say I now commend or advise the cutting of the hair. I said it does no harm to cut the hair and it never makes the hair grow better or thicker. I said I still hate to see a woman's hair cut off or bobbed, if she has nice hair to begin with. That's that, and enough of that.
Now about the use of tobacco. I have said here more than once, I think, that so far as I can learn it is no more and no less harmful for a woman to chew or smoke or use snuff than it is for a man to do so. I believe it is just as injurious to the physical and mental and moral well being of a girl to use tobacco in any way as it is for a boy to do so. By girl or boy I mean one not yet old enough to vote. If a man or woman, having attained adult age and presumably full development of body, mind and character, desires to use tobacco, and uses it temperately, there is no harm in it, so far as I know.
Public indulgence in tobacco by women is usually due to an inferiority complex. Such explanation accounts for most of the cigarette smoking by little boys. The inferiority complex makes one cowardly, characterless, weak, afraid to be "different" from the others, and rather anxious to "show off."
I have said here more than once that I wouldn't trust a smoking youth as far as I can throw a hull by the tail. Nor would I care to put faith in a woman or girl who smokes in public. The very act indicates deficiency, wishy washy character, weakness, if nothing more. Not the sort you can depend on.

SEEN AND HEARD
I see by Saturday's Tribune that a group of Holyoke college girls have been accused of "moon bathing" minus even their own piece swimming suits—trying to steal some of Earl Carroll's thunder, I presume. And what makes it still better they chose the town reservoir to do their bathing in—well a bath tub probably wouldn't have accommodated all of them—I wonder if there was an audience?

SPAIN HAS USED CHOCOLATE FOR ABOUT 400 YEARS
Europe Will Celebrate Fourth Centenary Two Years too Early
From L'Eclair de Nice, Nice. Translated for The Journal.
Chocolate is 400 years old these days. At least, that is what newspapers tell us. Centenaries ought to be celebrated; they teach our contemporaries that civilization by no means began with them. But at least let us celebrate centenaries on their real date, and let us not make mistakes about history!
This year we are going to have the fourth centenary of the introduction of chocolate in Europe. Chocolate was taken from Mexico to Spain by Fernando Cortez, and that means that we really ought to wait two years longer before commemorating the chocolate anniversary. In the years 1526 Cortez was still in Mexico. His conquest was "terminated," but the conquistador was still much occupied with reconstructing Mexico, which he had had to destroy to defeat its inhabitants.
Not until two years later did he return to Europe. He landed at Palos in the last days of May, 1528. The friends of chocolate ought therefore to be more prudent and wait a little before organizing chocolate festivals. And if they wish to celebrate the introduction of chocolate in France, they must wait at least 33 more years. Spain, after getting to know the chocolate in 1528, kept its secret to herself. Chocolate was a remedy, a medicament in those days. The Spaniards wanted to be the only ones to profit from it, and so they prohibited the exportation of chocolate.
Chocolate did not become known in France until 1559. In his important work on the "Private Life of the Past," M. Franklin reproduced the text of letters whereby Louis XIV authorized his "very dear and beloved David Chalon" to sell to the public "a certain composition called chocolate, the taking of which is very healthy." "Said Chalon having applied himself to the quest for secrets which might be good for the human body," had discovered said composition in the course of his travels in Spain. The Spaniards had known chocolate more than 30 years earlier. You see they kept their secret pretty well.
MOTORIST TELLS JINX OF FIRST CAR
Pioneer Drivers Wrestled With Baky Autos on Rocky Roads
From "Detours Passable but Unsafe," by Philip Sanford Marden.
It is now about a score of years since I had my first experiences with automobiles. I had no car of my own then, and no prospect of any, but I had a good neighbor, who was among the pioneers. He was early infected with the microbe and has been driving ever since.
I remember his first car. It was a one-lung Cadillac which answered some what uncertainly to the name of Maud. We had many joyous trips in it for I was young and adventurous, and Maud never by any chance exceeded a modest 25 an hour because to exceed that mad pace was not in her.
We learned that it was highly unwise to comment favorably on the excellent performances of Maud. Maud, with a most unmanly habit, seemed to resent such praise and invariably made it the occasion for a tantrum.
Engines were not perfected then, you must remember, and roads were very far from their present excellence, being composed for the most part of sand and loose stones. One day I recall that we were coming from Boston over a route which now requires a running time of about one hour, if you are conservative. We had taken nearly five hours to do it, owing partly to Maud's idiosyncrasies and a few sandy detours, not to mention a bit of hospitality, such as was then quite legal and extremely delightful, at a convenient inn.
Maud was thoroughly warm and her single cylinder was working like a fine Swiss watch. She was doing her 25 an hour without effort and the lights of home were appearing in the distance through the dusk. I could not forbear a favorable comment to the general effect that Maud had never done so well in her life. With the squire, thought was invariably action. He promptly stretched forth a deformed knuckle and rapped vigorously on the wood-

At that instant Maud ran full against an unchartered rock, which some idiot had left lying in the middle of the highway, staggered, choked, coughed and then died absolutely dead. Q. Do colleges use the Two Sport Rule? Why? T. A. Y.
A. There are many colleges which are governed in athletics by the Two Sport Rule. The aim of this rule is twofold; first to distribute the opportunity among the greatest possible number of students; second to prevent outstanding athletes from overdoing. Those who oppose this Two Sport Rule say that the prominent athlete, if limited in his school activities, will go outside of the school for athletics and in this way be without supervision.
Q. What will remove the odor of gasoline from clothes that are cleaned at home? B. W.
A. There is nothing that can be used in home cleaning to kill the odor of gasoline. A thorough airing and pressing with a warm iron will help to dissipate it. In large cleaning establishments, this odor is killed by kiln-drying process.
Q. What makes hills or mountains in the distance look blue? The Blue Ridge Mountains aren't really blue, are they? N. M.
A. The air between you and the hills is filled with countless particles of dust and other things and what you see is not blue hills, but the reflection of the sun's rays from the little particles in the air, the color being due to the angle at which the light from the sun strikes the particles and to the character of the particles.
Q. Is it illegal to use stage money just to fool people? M. K.
A. It is against the law to use any paper money which bears a resemblance to United States money. Any paper money which is used on the stage or for other purposes of this nature must be approved by the chief of the Secret Service, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C. A local stage authority says that most of the paper money which is used on the stage is genuine money.
Q. What are French "renfres"? C. G. V.
A. The "renfres" are interests payable by the French Government on the consolidated debt and also on bonds, shares, stocks, etc., which represent this indebtedness.
Q. Light blue and dark blue sapphires come from the same place? B. J. S.
A. The cornflower blue or dark velvet blue type is brought from Ceylon. The light blue and peacock blue sapphires come from Burma.

Never Again

that anxious question
"Will it jell?"

No fruit by itself contains enough jellifying substance to jelly all of its juice. That is why, by the old-fashioned methods of jam and jelly making you have to "boil your fruit down" until enough of the juice has boiled away to concentrate the jellifying substance in the fruit.

But with Certo, which is simply the natural jellifying substance of fruit refined and bottled, you do not have to boil your fruit down. One or two minutes' boiling is enough to give a perfect, tender "set." It cannot fail to jell.

This short boil saves the color and flavor of your fresh fruit, so that your jams and jellies look better and taste better. You get larger amount from your fruit, too, because you save all the juice that used to boil away.

A recipe book comes with each bottle of Certo. Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. Address Douglas-Pectin Corporation, 9645 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y.

ADVERTISED IN FOR PIGEONS
NEARBY CITIES
Invite Fraternal Organizations to Take Part in Parade on July 5

Kaukauna—About twenty-five automobiles, carrying posters, advertising the St. Mary homecoming passed through neighboring cities Sunday afternoon. The cars were decorated and some had comedians in them to attract the attention of the people. The procession went as far south as Kiel.

The homecoming will be held Sunday, Sunday and Monday, July 3, 4 and 5. Former members of the St. Mary parish are expected to return to Kaukauna to help celebrate with the present members. Over three thousand visitors are expected in the city.

Among some of the features of the homecoming will be a parade on Monday, July 5. Everyone in the city is invited to take part in it to make it one of the biggest the city has ever had. Every fraternal organization in the city may enter the parade. Many prizes will be given for the best floats.

In the afternoon of the same day there will be a picnic at Kline's park and there will be dancing. The committee in charge of the homecoming has secured fireworks and a display will be held in the evening.

Kaukauna boys who have entered the priesthood will return to the city for that day and most of the priests who have served St. Mary parish will be here.

Saturday, July 3 will be devoted to registering the out of town guests and to finding lodging places for them.

Most all of the scores were low in the shoot because of the strong wind. Manitowish took a clean sweep of all its events in its match with Coleman and Green Bay took four from Oconto.

J. J. Jansen, W. R. Harwood, C. W. Stribley, A. R. Jennings and D. C. Hayward formed the Kaukauna team.

FEELING FINE since I took FOLEY PILLS

It is a glorious thing to awake, with a lively, healthy, energetic body. It is miserable to drag an aching, tired, weary body from a restless, sleepless bed.

The chances are that impaired kidney and bladder action has failed to clear the blood stream of lurking poisons which cause the distressing aches.

So there is backache, rheumatic pains, weary tired feeling, dull headaches, general discomfort, and disturbed bladder action.

Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, are a reliable valuable medicine that promotes healthy normal activity of kidneys and bladder. In constant use for over 25 years. Contains no harmful ingredient. Satisfaction guaranteed. Ask your druggist for Foley Pills.

THE PERFECT MOTOR OIL
CONSULT CHART
SEALS PISTONS AGAINST LOSS OF OIL
MAINTAINS CORRECT MOOV AT ALL SPEEDS OR TEMPERATURE Standard Oil Company (Indiana)

Oil Is a Big Little Thing

Oil is a little thing when motoring expenses are considered — hardly worth mentioning.

From the yearly expenditures of the United States on automobiles, as reported by the Bureau of Industrial Technology, the cost of oil is found to be only 2.14% of the total yearly automobile bill.

But oil, for all its insignificance on the expense account, is a big thing in the life of every car. Failure to realize this fact costs car owners lots of money.

An engine must have oil or it will not run at all. It must have the right oil, or it will not run smoothly.

The reasons are quickly apparent. Fast moving surfaces within the engine must be protected with a thin film of oil that will withstand heat and friction. If this film breaks, surfaces chafe against each other, and particles of grit grind them away. Repair bills and the gradual disintegration of your car are inevitable results.

Only the best oil, made especially to fit the needs of your particular engine, can protect it adequately — Polarine is the perfect motor oil — the scientific product of years of painstaking work by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) lubricating staff. There is a grade expressly made for your individual engine. That grade of Polarine lubricates thoroughly the remotest frictional surfaces. It will permit your engine to operate smoothly — and do its best work.

When you have actually cut down repair bills and learned the joy of a smooth running car by using Polarine — the perfect motor oil — you will appreciate the fact that oil is a big little thing.

the plot being interwoven with the facts of human beings in a quite novel way.

Although the cost contains the names of such screen celebrities as Henry B. Walthall, J. Farrell Mac Donald and Gertrude Astor, all of whom give fine performances, it is reasonably certain that at least one of the five very famous horses in this same cast will be given the palm in the best of all.

None other than Man o' War and Morvich are these two kings of the turf with such strong penchants for "stealing the picture" in this, their debut to the screen. Many will want to see this feature just because they are in it so prominently.

Also of more than secondary importance, is the fact that John Ford, the director, has succeeded in photographing two of the most thrillingly realistic horse-races for this picture. Anyone having the least drop of sporting blood in his or her veins will certainly relish these dashes of speed.

In short, "Kentucky Pride" is a photodramatic treat for all those seeking something distinctly different in their cinematic fare.

"Kentucky Pride" holds the boards at the New Bijou three days starting today. This is an out-of-the-ordinary picture, which is surely destined to attract a great many people, who do not make a habit of going to cinema emporiums. It is a graphic and thoroughly engrossing unfoldment of the romantic story of a great racehorse.

How CLEAN they are

It's certainly a pleasure to get that sparkling, bright cleanliness in clothes. To have them impressively—satisfyingly clean, without the tiresome work of hand-rubbing collars, cuffs, neckbands and wristbands. That's what the Maytag does—try it and see.

Do a week's washing with a Maytag in your own home, without obligation or expense. See how much cleaner it washes everything—even grimy rompers and school-clothes—even greasy work-shirts and overalls. See how much faster it washes—only 3 to 7 minutes for big tubfuls. Only an hour to do a whole washing—50 pounds of dry clothes. See how much easier it makes washday—see how much sooner you are through.

Note how the satin-smooth, self-cleaning, cast-aluminum tub keeps water cleansingly hot for an entire washing—for tubful after tubful. And the water stays clean because the dirt settles into the sediment trap beneath the gyrator.

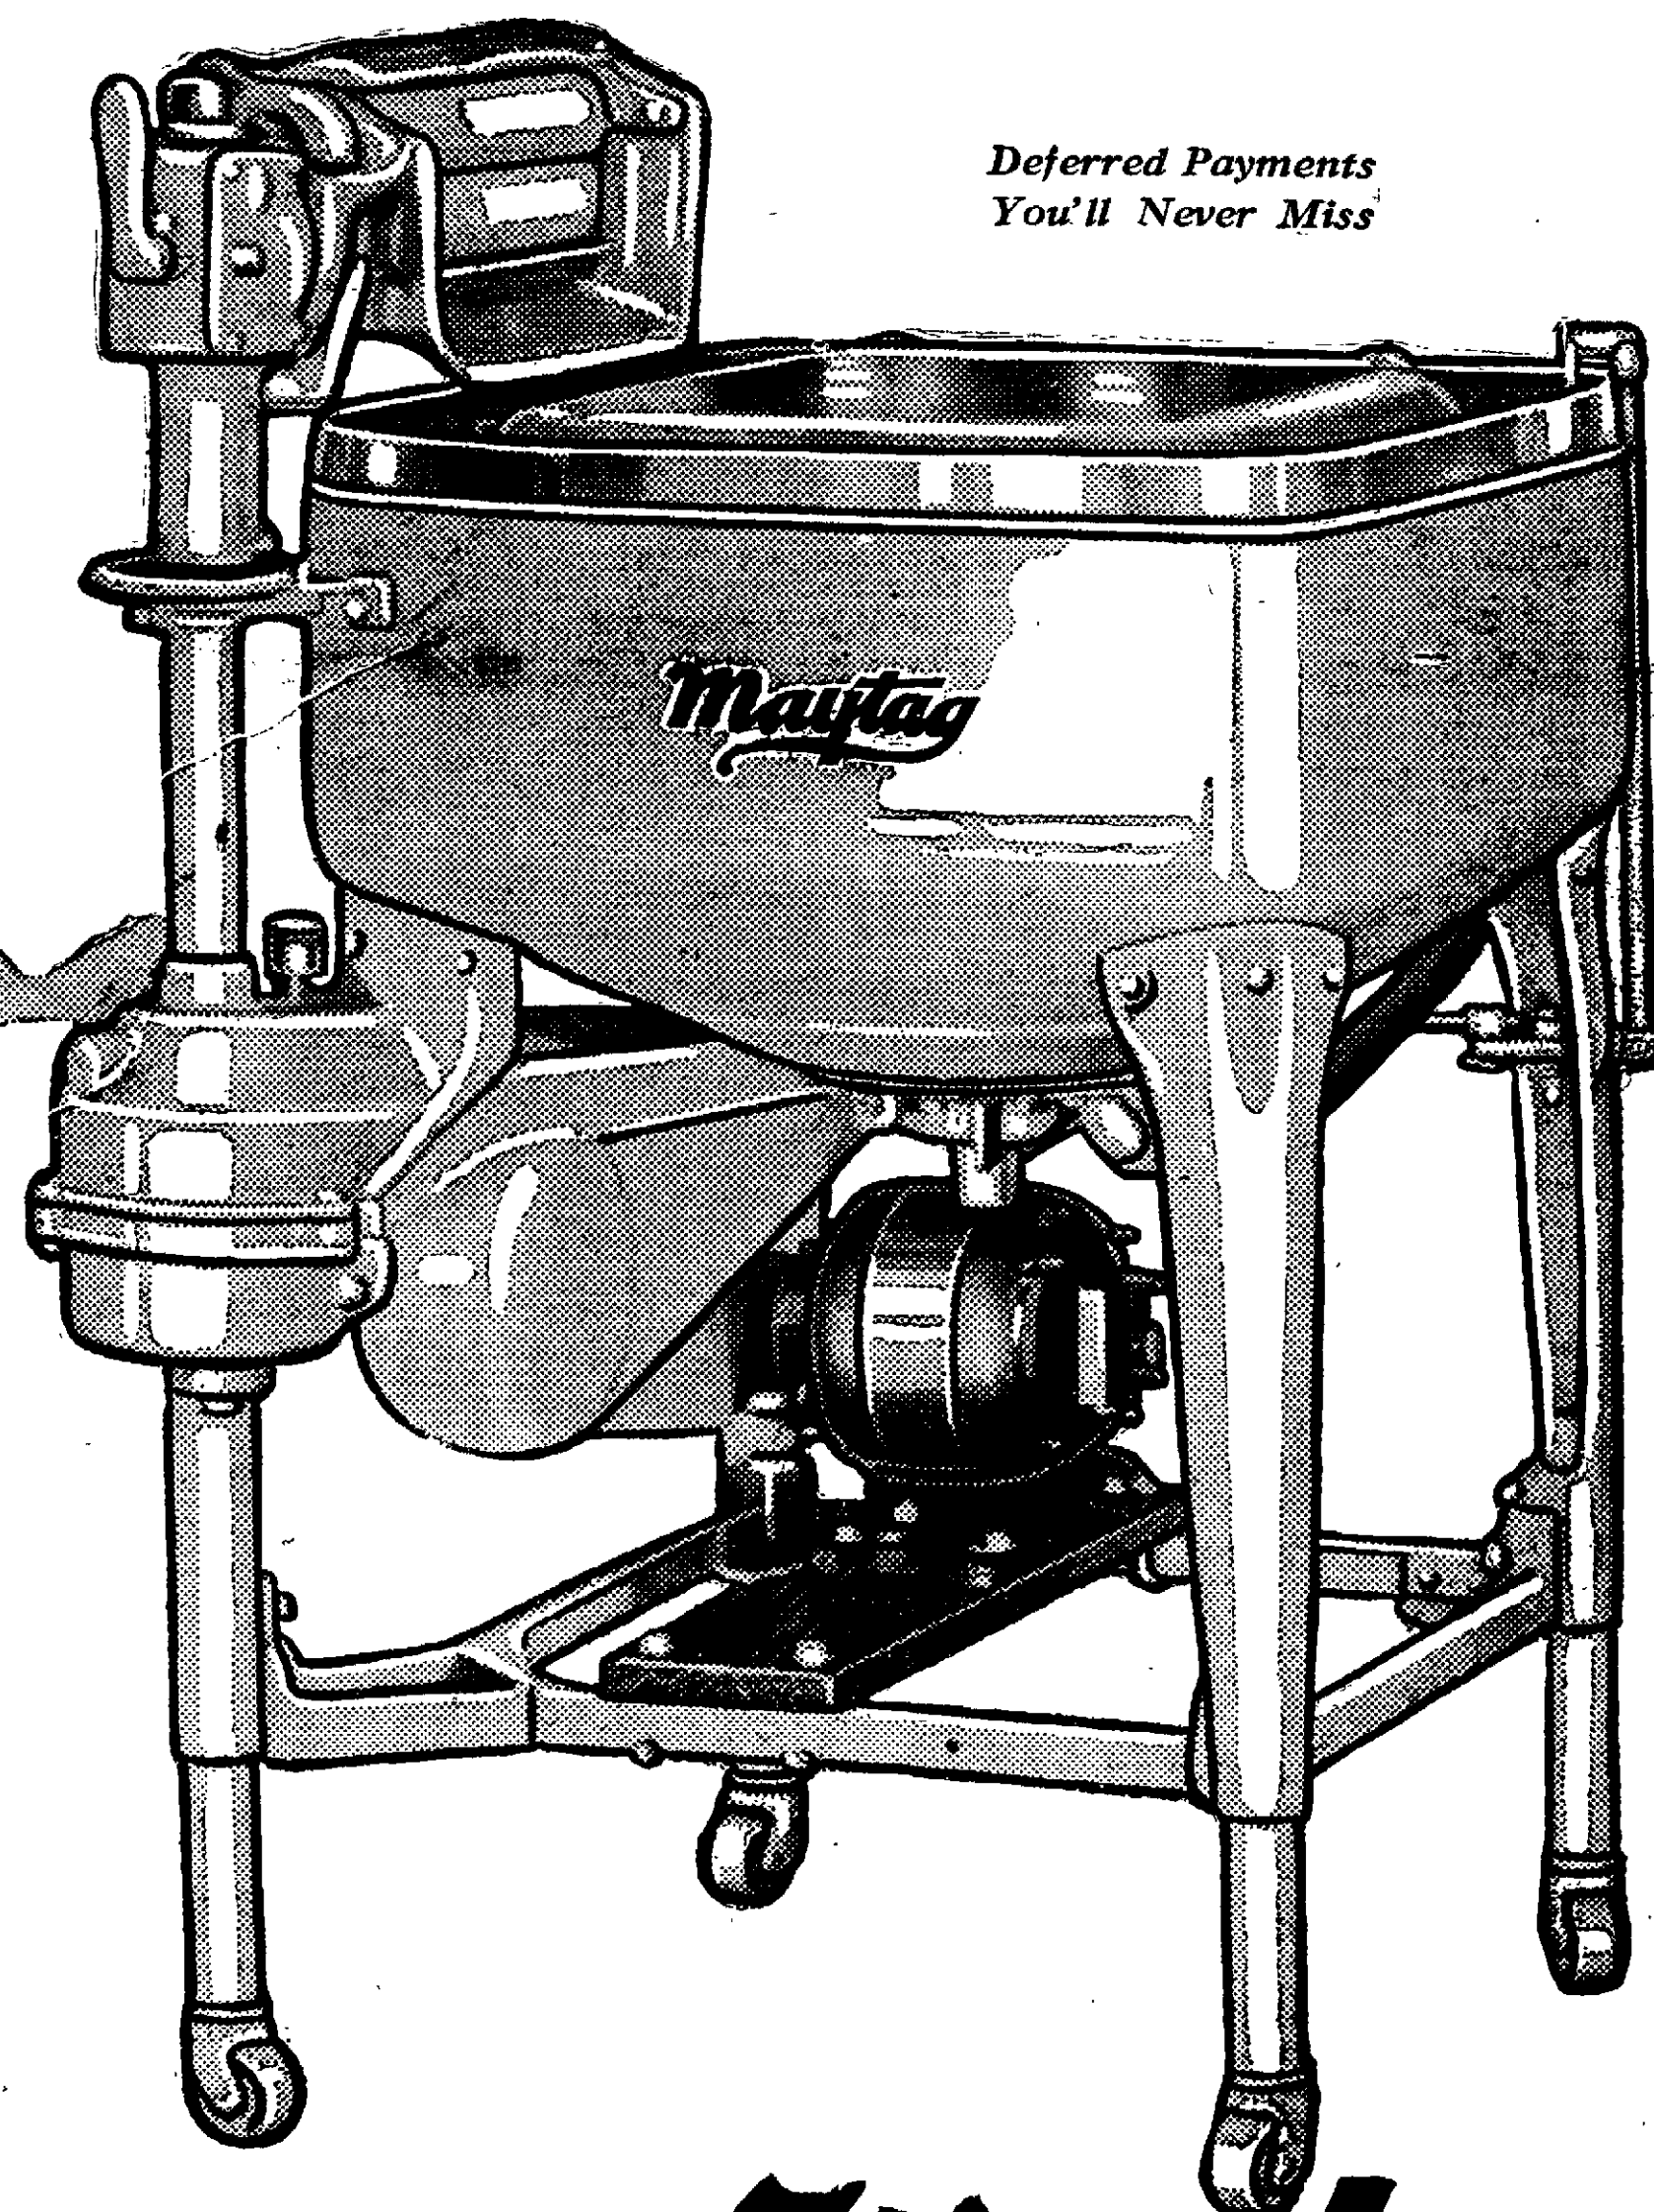

While the Maytag is compact enough to fit into a corner, the tub holds more than other washers—21 gallons—and, being, "machinery-free," every inch is clothes room.

The conveniently-placed, low-set wringer instantly adjusts itself to a handkerchief or blanket and wrings both dry. Swings and locks into seven positions. Has instant, positive, tension-release and self-reversing drainboard.

For homes without electricity, the Maytag is available with in-built gasoline motor.

"REGULARS" ARE WORRIED ABOUT SENATOR COUZENS

His Passion for Publicity in Affairs of State Bother Others

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington—Senator James Couzens of Michigan has a passion for publicity in affairs of state. A lot of this fellow senators with Couzens would keep his passion under better control. It embarrasses them greatly when he lets it overmaster him, as it did when he got that income tax publicity law enacted at the last session of Congress. True, they repeated it this session, but it was most unpleasant while it lasted. It also gave him a reputation, among all "regulars," as a dangerous character.

Couzens is in a pretty fair state of suppression just now. The "regulars" on both sides, being banded together to hold insurgency in check, are strong enough, incidentally, to prevent the Michigan senator from running amuck again with that publicity bug of his.

But, all the time, they know the urge is seething inside him to tear the lid off from everything governmental, and it worries 'em. Couzens' theory is that cabinet members should be required to appear in Congress periodically, to have questions put to them, as members of the French ministry are questioned in Parliament.

"For instance," he told me last session, "the Teapot Dome transaction probably could have been nipped in the bud if the men involved in it had had to appear on the Senate floor and explain it in advance. Even if they'd refused to answer questions, the questions themselves would have started an investigation before, instead of after, the deal had been completed."

Of course, to individuals who profit by Teapot Dome dickers this sounds like very poor reasoning.

Couzens puzzles the Senate and probably the Senate puzzles him.

Senators are mostly politicians and lawyers. They may be practical politicians but not many of them are practical business men. They reason hypothetically. When they talk, they argue.

Couzens is strictly business and of the intuitive type. When he has a remark to make it's about something definite. He makes it with bold clarity and conciseness. He wastes no time on rhetoric or the elegant turning of his periods. He goes for the point like a bullet.

Naturally he and the Senate don't understand one another.

Couzens isn't at all backward about jumping into a fight.

He's a man of strong likes and dislikes. He's far from patient. Filled, he manifests it with plenty of vigor and pungency. Parliamentary rules irritate him. He disregards 'em. Called to order, he effervesces like a shaken-up bottle of soda water.

If you're business to transact with Senator Couzens, make it snappy. He's there to transact it and he's very accessible, but he doesn't want a conversation to drool along an unnecessary minute.

Efficiency. Efficiency. Efficiency. That's Senator Couzens.

He's a high-class senator and an interesting one.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOHN and FAY MILBURN buy a home of their own shortly after their baby girl is born. Each evening when he came home Fay had a new word to announce in Judith's vocabulary.

"She said 'muvver' today," Fay told him one evening. "You know, she's been calling me mama. Today I told her to say mother—and she said it."

"Or its equivalent," laughed John. "Where is the little nuisance? I want to try her out."

He found Judith wandering through the dining room, her hands clutching desperately at the table legs and whatever support she could find.

"Come here," he said, and lifted her high in the air while she squealed and wriggled her delight.

"More," she demanded when he put her down, and he went through the performance again.

He called to Fay, "The little dickens would have me playing acrobat all evening if I'd do it." She never tires.

"I got a letter from mother today," Fay told him. "She says if I don't come home for a visit and bring Judith she'd disinherit me and if that threat fails to move me she'll come out here and drag me back by force."

John smiled. "Well, there's no law against your going home, I guess. When would you like to go?"

"I had thought it would be best if we waited until you decided to take your vacation. Then you could spend some time there, too."

"I don't believe I'll take much of a vacation, Fay. Things are busy and will be for quite a while. Tell you what I'll do. Whenever you make up your mind to go, I'll go along and stay for a few days and then come back. Why don't you go this month? Here it is May. Judith will be a year old next month. She's old enough to stand a train trip pretty well."

"Perhaps if we wait you'll be able to stay longer," said Fay.

John shook his head. "Don't think we ought to wait. My folks haven't seen the baby, and neither has your father. You know they're all dying to get a look at her. Sooner the better, Fay," and he took his seat at the dinner table.

"But what will you do while I'm gone?" Fay asked him.

"Oh, I'll get along all right."

"I hate to think of you all alone here while I'm enjoying myself in Chicago."

"That's all right. Don't waste any pity on me. I've got friends here. You know, and if I ever get homesick for a real square meal I can find plenty of tables around town to shove my legs under. Besides," and he transferred a forkful of dinner to his mouth and mumbled his words, "do you go on to be away from each other a while."

Fay looked at him sharply. "What do you mean, John? Are you getting tired of me?"

"Course not. And I don't think you're getting tired of me. Blame it all, you know what I mean. Fay, I'll do both of us good not to have the other around for a while. I don't care how smoothly any two people get along, the time comes when they commence to get on each other's nerves and the only thing to do is to get away from each other for a while."

"I'm sorry I get on your nerves," said Fay, and John was about to make an angry retort when he glanced to look at her closely and observed that she was smiling.

"Poor John, you do get so mad at me, don't you?" she teased him and though he tried to look stern he was forced, in spite of himself, to laugh.

"Why can't you be serious?" he said, and turned once more into the plans for Fay's homecoming.

"Suppose," he suggested, "we plan on leaving in about two weeks?"

"Are you going to get your own meals while you're here alone?" Fay asked him.

"Me? Nothing doing."

"Not even your breakfast?"

"Not a meal. Besides being a rotten cook, I hate the thought of wash-

A Capital Time in a Capital City Is Slogan for State Convention

Two weeks later they left for Chicago, John engaging a stateroom on the train.

They were met at the station by a delegation of four, and Judith was promptly seized and made much over by two enthusiastic sets of grandparents.

With two grandmothers both crazy to take care of Judith, Fay felt freer than she had at any time during the last year and she immediately set in to have a good time. All her old cronies—and most of John's—were apprised of their homecoming and every minute was taken up, what with teas and theaters, bridge and dancing, and as John ut it, nearly "everything on the calendar."

John found that he could stay for a week and during that time he and Fay and the baby lived with his people. It was agreed that Fay's parents should claim their daughter and grandchild after John's departure.

He said to her one night, on their way home from a dance at one of the country clubs. "We're lucky, Fay, that our people get along so well with one another."

"I'm very happy, John," Fay said, pressing his hand.

The next day John left for Appleton, and his father brought Fay and Judith down to see him off.

"Take care of Judy," he said to Fay, as he kissed her goodbye.

"I will," she promised, "and you be careful of yourself, John."

"Oh, don't worry about me," he called back and swung aboard the train, and, filled with high purpose and the best of resolutions, he set out for Appleton, where circumstances or fate—call it what you will—were waiting to make him a plaything.

Concrete Block Construction is Economical

Are you planning to build? Then look into the advantages and economies of concrete blocks.

With these units you get real masonry construction. First cost is often lower than that of far less durable materials.

All things considered, concrete blocks are the most economical material for home building. If you can afford a house at all, you can't afford any less than the value which you will get from concrete blocks.

SUNDAY GAMES
APPLETON 3, NEENAH 3.
Oshkosh 3, Green Bay 3.
Fond du Lac 6, Kimberly 3.

Frank Merriwell, in the prime of his colorful career, when he was winning ball games single-handed in the final inning, could not have provided a more sensational finish or one that appealed more to the fans than did Harvey Priebe, veteran outfielder of the Appleton Fox River Valley League ball club, Sunday afternoon when the Baetzmen tackled the Neenah club in a loop game at Brandt park. The veteran of old Fox River Valley league days, found one of Nixon's shots to his liking with one out in the last half of the ninth inning on the sacks and the score 3-4, and he smacked it over the left field wall for a homerun giving the locals a 5-3 win and Dats Crowe his second victory in three full games.

The game was hard-fought with either team having a decisive edge in the score column. Neither hurler walked a man but Nixon fanned 13 to 5 for Crowe and allowed only 6 hits while Crowe was touched for 8. However, Dats had great support, his mates playing fine ball, while Nixon had 5 errors and plenty of poor fielding to overcome. The entire Appleton infield played errorless ball, with Radtke at first, scooping the pill out of the dirt in great shape on low throws in the outfield Priebe and Van Wyck took care of the hard flies made especially hard by the high wind. Van Wyck saved Crowe's game in the eighth frame, when with a Neenah man on the sacks, he took a liner labelled for at least two sacks with one paw outstretched above his head for the most sensational catch of the day.

At bat Dombrowski of Neenah starred clouting two homeruns in four batters, though the second was a fluke hitting a spot inside the field and bounding over a yard in the air to clear the fence. Whitpen and Handler also got two hits for Neenah.

Red Ashman, classy Appleton catcher, starred with the willow for the Baetzmen, driving out two hits in two batters and stealing the middle cushion twice. Priebe's homer was the only big feature of the Appleton ball streak. With the three homers, the game kept up the record of every game played in Appleton this year, being won for one side on homeruns. The game also established another mark, that of the enemy always scoring first. This happened in every game the Baetzmen have played and twice they have overcome the lead, the last two times, and twice they have failed. It also was the second tilt in which opposing batters have found Crowe for first-inning homers.

Neenah got two runs in the opener when Dombrowski, first man up, pounded a homer over the left field wall to start proceedings. Whitpen went out Schultz to Radtke and Gulickson doubled to center. Madison followed with another double and his mate galloped home Nixon flung out to C. T. Tarnow and Krull went out Schultz to Radtke. After that Crowe kept the remaining five hits well scattered, a homer scoring the only run. Neither side threatened until the fourth when Appleton scored twice. In the eighth, two errors and a pair of stolen bases, C. Tarnow, got a life when Madison at first dropped a perfect peg and Bent crossed the Neenah infield by shooting a single past second. The speedy Tarnow slid into third on the hit and Bent made second on the throwing to third. Ashman singled to right, Tarnow scored and Bent taking third. Red Schultz and Van Wyck was fanning and Priebe shot a hot one to the Neenah shortstop, who kicked the ball around while Bent scored and Ashman took third. Ashman overran the sack and a quick peg by the Neenah centerfielder, backing up short, nailed him off the cushion. Priebe stole second but Crowe fanned.

Then came Dombrowski's fluke homer in the first of the fifth putting the Larson crew ahead again. Things looked bad for Appleton when it went scoreless for two frames but determined not to let a fluke homer beat them, the Baetzmen put over a burst of speed to score in the eighth. Gosh got a single, stole second and advanced to third on Radtke's perfect sacrifice, which is pretty good ball. Schultz hit to short but Handler, Neenah catcher, dropped a perfect peg as Gosh took him off his feet in the baseline. At scoring While Handler was hunting for the ball which lay at his feet, Schultz came all the way to third base. He stayed there however, when Nixon drove to the occasion and fanned C. Tarnow and Bent in a row.

In the Neenah eighth, Whitpen had hit and gone out at second on a fielders choice and then Van Wyck had saved the game with his great catch. In the ninth Krull flied out to Gosh. Burnsides got on when Bent overran a fly, Handler went out Schultz to Radtke and Kinkle tanned Ashman hit to center, stole second while Van Wyck fanned and came the rest of the way with Priebe on the latter's homer, his third hit in six batters in the last two games.

In the other loop struggles, Bruce Noel, veteran Oshkosh manager and a star of the old Wisconsin-Illinois league, pitched the Savast cut crew into first place by beating Green Bay 3-0, in a no-hit no-run game, an extraordinary feat for any hurler let alone an aged vet, as he outlasted a hurling against one of the best squads in the loop. The Green Sox knocked out of first place for the first time this season, went into a tie for second with Fond du Lac, who had beat Kimberly, 6-5, in another loop tussle. Appleton's win coupled with the K-C crew's loss put the Baetzmen in fourth place, just a game behind second.

Home runs—Priebe, Dombrowski (2); Two base hits—Gulickson, Madison; First base on balls—off Crowe, none; off Nixon, none; Struck out by Crowe, 5; by Nixon, 13; Passed balls—Ashman, Handler; Hit by pitcher—by Nixon, Radtke; Stolen bases—Gosha, Priebe, Ashman (2); Sacrifice hits—Radtke; Umpires—Reas at plate and Burnsides; Scorer—Balza; Time of game—1 hr. 50 min.

scattered, a homer scoring the only run. Neither side threatened until the fourth when Appleton scored twice. In the eighth, two errors and a pair of stolen bases, C. Tarnow, got a life when Madison at first dropped a perfect peg and Bent crossed the Neenah infield by shooting a single past second. The speedy Tarnow slid into third on the hit and Bent made second on the throwing to third. Ashman singled to right, Tarnow scored and Bent taking third. Red Schultz and Van Wyck was fanning and Priebe shot a hot one to the Neenah shortstop, who kicked the ball around while Bent scored and Ashman took third. Ashman overran the sack and a quick peg by the Neenah centerfielder, backing up short, nailed him off the cushion. Priebe stole second but Crowe fanned.

Then came Dombrowski's fluke homer in the first of the fifth putting the Larson crew ahead again. Things looked bad for Appleton when it went scoreless for two frames but determined not to let a fluke homer beat them, the Baetzmen put over a burst of speed to score in the eighth. Gosh got a single, stole second and advanced to third on Radtke's perfect sacrifice, which is pretty good ball. Schultz hit to short but Handler, Neenah catcher, dropped a perfect peg as Gosh took him off his feet in the baseline. At scoring While Handler was hunting for the ball which lay at his feet, Schultz came all the way to third base. He stayed there however, when Nixon drove to the occasion and fanned C. Tarnow and Bent in a row.

In the Neenah eighth, Whitpen had hit and gone out at second on a fielders choice and then Van Wyck had saved the game with his great catch. In the ninth Krull flied out to Gosh. Burnsides got on when Bent overran a fly, Handler went out Schultz to Radtke and Kinkle tanned Ashman hit to center, stole second while Van Wyck fanned and came the rest of the way with Priebe on the latter's homer, his third hit in six batters in the last two games.

In the other loop struggles, Bruce Noel, veteran Oshkosh manager and a star of the old Wisconsin-Illinois league, pitched the Savast cut crew into first place by beating Green Bay 3-0, in a no-hit no-run game, an extraordinary feat for any hurler let alone an aged vet, as he outlasted a hurling against one of the best squads in the loop. The Green Sox knocked out of first place for the first time this season, went into a tie for second with Fond du Lac, who had beat Kimberly, 6-5, in another loop tussle. Appleton's win coupled with the K-C crew's loss put the Baetzmen in fourth place, just a game behind second.

WEEK'S GAMES
Monday—Meyer Press vs Y. M. C. A.
Wednesday—Post-Crescent vs Interlake.
Friday—Legion vs Bankers.

Plenty of exciting battles are in store for Appleton softball fans this week when the two city leagues resume action. The first place battle and another for first or second place are on the cards together with others of great interest. The most important tilt comes on Tuesday and Friday, one in each loop. Tuesday afternoon the Rotary and Kiwanis tied for the top in the Lark circuit meet, and Friday the third-place Bankers encounter the first place Legion squad in the Twilight loop in a struggle, which may pull the Legion into a second-place tie with the Bankers should it lose.

In the Kiwanis-Rotary struggle, the winner will take a nice lead while the loser will tie for second place with the Lions with a chance of dropping to third if the Lions beat the Y's Men Thursday. A win for the Y's Men will tie that crew for third with its victim the Lions.

Both leaders are in danger of being toppled in the Twilight loop with a lone first in sight for the one which wins while the other loses. The Legion beat the Bankers by the narrow margin of one run last time and a Bank win will tie the two squads for second place. The Y's Men, who for the top should the P-C crew lose to the Interlakes on Wednesday. The Papermen won their first tilt in great style last week showing a rejuvenated crew to trip the surprised Legion, considered the loop's strongest team. Playing the same brand of ball they may win while the P-C men, who beat the Y's Men score last time, but lost to the Legion, 7-1. The P-C crew, however, played good ball in its last start.

An Interlake win will raise that squad from the cellar to a tie with the loser of the Meyer Press-Y. M. C. A. tilt on Monday. The winners of that game will tie temporarily tied with the Bankers in third, dropping behind if the Bankers beat the Legion and shooting to a lone hold on third if the Legion wins.

IN MILWAUKEE

BILL MEYER

New skipper of the Louisville Colonels, 1925 American Association champs, who brought his 1925 title hopes to Milwaukee Friday for the crucial series. The Colonels moved on the top of the ladder until the Brews sensational spurt of 21 straight wins brought them from seventh to a hold on the important rung. However, the Colonels are but a few games behind in second place and steady wins for the Kentucky crew will put them head of the Louisville clan while the same procedure by the Brews will give them a fine lead.

Meyer's appointment as leader of the Colonels to succeed Joe McCarthy, who took over the helm of the Chicago Cubs, was a reward for several years' faithful service as first-string catcher. Bill continues to take his regular turn behind the plate. Meyer saw big league service with Connie Mack.

4 APPLETON MEN IN GOLF TOURNEY

Dickinson, Stevens, Pelkey, Shepherd in Two-state Contest at Menominee

Four Appleton golf stars, two representing each local golf club, left Sunday for Menominee, Mich., where they took part in the annual clash between golfers of Northeastern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan on Monday. The contest, which was started some years ago, was played this year on the Riverside Country club links in the Michigan city. Practically every club in northeastern Wisconsin is represented by two men on the Badger squad and the same is true of the Michigan clubs. Two of the best men in the club are chosen by the team captain as part of his squad.

Frank Kerwin of Green Bay, a member of the 1925 Badger team and he has rounded up a star squad with chances for another victory over the Michigan boys, bright. Appleton men on the squad are Ken Dickinson and Jack Stevens, representing Riverside, and Heber Pelkey and D. Shepherd from the Butte des Morts. Dickinson is present state amateur champ and Stevens also is an extra-good player, being club champ several times. He is handicapped lower than the state titlist for the Post-Crescent prize. Both Pelkey and Shepherd are among the best and most consistent pull pounders in the new golf club. All four are expected to finish high among the contestants of the rival states, and one may even cop the 1926 Northwestern Wisconsin-Upper Michigan title by his work.

3 CLUBS IN EASY REACH OF FIRST

Reds Hold N. L. Lead by Point Over Pirates With Cards Half-game to Rear

Chicago (AP)—Front rank clubs in the National league were closely bunched Monday, Cincinnati held the crest against the Pirates by one point while the St. Louis Cardinals were but half a game distant.

Consistent batting behind the able pitching of Hornsby's three aces, Rhem, Sherdel and Bell, advanced the Cardinals in the eastern invasion concluded Sunday when Sherdel shut out Brooklyn, 9 to 0.

St. Louis won 11 of its 12 games in the east.

Pittsburgh made it three straight over the Giants, rolling up 11 bingles for 8 runs. Kiki Cuyler entertained 40,000 fans by plying out a homer with one on base in the third.

Cincinnati and Chicago split, the Reds winning, 5 to 1, and losing 4 to 3. Nehf made his initial start for the Reds in the second game and was pounded out of the box in one third of an inning, during which three hits and a free pass yielded four runs.

The Yankees lost their final game of the western trip to the White Sox at Chicago, 4 to 3. The American League leaders, however, gained ground away from home, winning 9 to 15 encounters.

Six errors by the Athletics paved the way for their downfall before the Tigers, 3 to 3, moving both clubs an even break in the four game series. Blue hit for the circuit with one on base in the fourth inning. The Athletics are now half a game behind the Indians and White Sox who are tied for second place.

Miller won the decision from Heimach in a pitching fracas as Cleveland took the series final from the Red Sox, 1 to 0.

At St. Louis, the Browns handed Walter Johnson his seventh straight defeat in defeating Washington, 5 to 4. Pinch hitter Williams turned out his eighth home run of the year with two on in the seventh.

3RD WARD JUNIORS WIN FROM CHUTE BALL CLUB

A three-bagger by Ryan with the bases loaded and one down in the final frame of a game between the Third Ward Juniors of Appleton and the Little Chute squad, gave the Juniors a close victory, 14-12. The game was played on the reservoir diamond in the Third ward. The Juniors were behind 12-10 at the start of the frame but scored four times on the triple and an error which brought its maker over.

The score was tied 4-4 in the fourth frame when Versteegen put the Chuteurs ahead with a homer to left field with two on the sacks, but Babino of the Appleton crew tied matters with a homer to center with the same number on. Then the Chute crew added five runs while the Appleton boys garnered only three until the final frame. Versteegen and Driek hurled fine ball for the losers with Ryan and Martell working in fine style for the winners. Lucassen and Versteegen starred with the stick.

CHILTON YOUTH KILLED AS CAR RUNS INTO TREE

Young Man Returning from Convention Loses Control
of Car in Loose Gravel

Clarence Woolfel, 23 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Woolfel of Chilton, was killed when the car he was driving skidded in loose gravel and crashed into a tree at about 2 o'clock Sunday morning two miles north of Plymouth. Woolfel suffered a broken neck and died in the Plymouth hospital at 12:30 Sunday afternoon. With him in the car were Huger Hietzer, Gilbert Cooper, and Daniel Clune, all of Chilton, all of whom escaped with slight injuries. The men were returning to Chilton from the Eagle convention at Plymouth. Woolfel lost control of the machine when it struck the loose gravel. The car was completely demolished.

Mr. Woolfel is survived by his parents, six brothers, William, Joseph, Erwin, and John at home; Alex, New Holston, Leo Laguna, Beach, Cobl, and one sister, Mrs. Frank Mulyaney, Milwaukee. The body was taken to the home in Chilton Sunday evening. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at St. Mary church. Burial will be in St. Mary cemetery.

Three Leaves, Waxy Fruits Identify Poison Ivy Plant

"Now that summer is at hand and the woods are beckoning to fishermen, campers, and picnickers, the old danger of poison ivy is at hand to make the trip into the woods a not unmixed blessing. However, by following a few simple rules one may learn to recognize this plant and its poisonous counterparts and thus avoid days and nights of agony after a day in the woods."

According to Farmers' Bulletin No.
1166, U. S. Department of Agriculture
"the poison ivy plant is also known as poison oak, and by various local names such as three leaved ivy, poison creeper, climbing sumac, markwood, pary, and mercury. It grows in the form of woody vines, trailing shrubs and adapts itself to the greatest variety of conditions, flourishing in woods or in the open, in low moist soil or in dry soil, and on hillsides. It is especially abundant along fence rows and at the edges of paths and roadways, scrambling over rocks and walls, climbing posts or trees to considerable heights, often mixed with other shrubbery in such a way as to escape notice until attention is attracted by the occurrence of cases of poisoning," says the bulletin.

"LEAFLETS 3, LET IT BE"
"The plants are most easily recognized by their leaves, which are always divided into three leaflets, and by their whitish waxy fruits, which look somewhat like mistletoe berries each containing a single seed. The homely saying 'Leaflets three, let it be,' offers a measure of safety to those unacquainted with poison ivy, even though it may occasionally lead to undue suspicion and the avoidance of some innocent harmless plant. The plants do not all bear fruit but, when they do, the whitish or cream colored berries (more correctly called drupelets) make recognition positive. These remain far into the winter and thus point out the plants long after their leaves have fallen.

"Poison ivy and poison sumac are close relatives and are alike in their poisonous properties. Their common principle is nonvolatile oily substance known as urticic acid, which has such violently irritant properties that the slightest trace deposited on the skin is capable of producing severe inflammation. All parts of the plant contain the poison even after long drying, but growth in which the sap is abundant is the most dangerous.

GETS ON CLOTHING
"Poisoning is usually caused by touching of brushing against the plants or by handling clothing or other articles which have been in contact with them. On the other hand, many persons are convinced that they have been poisoned by passing by them from a short distance, without actually touching them, by particles carried through the air. There is much difference of opinion and conflicting evidence on this point. Many sensitive individuals find they are fully protected by avoiding actual contact with the plants or with articles contaminated with the poison. It is well known, however, that smoke from the burning plants will carry the poison and may cause serious injury. The symptoms of ivy poisoning are produced as the irritant poison penetrates the outer surface of the skin, and they may appear within a few hours or be delayed until five days or longer after exposure.

"Itching or burning sensations,
with reddening of the poisoned surfaces and more or less swelling, are first noticed usually followed by the appearance of small vesicles, which may show a tendency to run together and form blisters. Pus may form in these vesicles, followed by a crust or scab formation as the eruption passes.
The acute symptoms of the attack
usually continue to develop for a day or two, followed by a gradual improvement as the effects of the irritant wear off.

"Those who are sensitive to ivy poisoning should not only avoid touching the plants, but also should use care in handling articles which may have been in contact with them. Contaminated shoes, clothing, or tools have been sources of poisoning sometimes overlooked, as are also animals that have access to poison-ivy patches.

"While the plants are sometimes so abundant as to make complete eradication practically impossible, the destruction at least of smaller areas, especially along paths and in frequented situations, should be undertaken.

WASH THOROUGHLY

"After exposure to poison ivy, measures to insure the removal of the poison are of primary importance. It should be remembered that at first the poison is on the surface of the skin and can be removed by thorough washing and rinsing repeated several times. Careless washing, however, may serve to spread the poison. Ordinary lather or laundry soap which has an excess of alkali is best for the purpose and hot water should be used.
The soap should be used freely, so as to produce an abundant lather on the exposed surfaces, and then rinse out completely, and the operation repeated not less than three or four times.
Running water is preferable, or if a basin is used, the water should be changed frequently. The hands, especially the finger nails should receive particular attention, in order to remove traces of the poison which they may harbor and transfer to other parts of the body. Hard scrubbing with a stiff brush is not advised, as it may serve to rub in the poison and stir up infection, but there is no objection to wash rags provided several are used and each discarded in turn. The poison can also be removed by cleansing the exposed parts repeatedly with

GOVERNOR WILL SPEND NIGHT IN APPLETON

Governor John G. Blaine will stop in Appleton Monday evening enroute from Madison to Clintonville where he will open his campaign for election to the United States senate with a speech Tuesday. From Clintonville Governor Blaine will go to cities in the northern part of the state for a week's speaking tour. He is driving from Madison and is expected in Appleton late Monday afternoon. He will stay here overnight and resume his journey to Clintonville Tuesday morning.

alcohol diluted with an equal quantity of water. Alcohol merely dissolves the poison and unless applied with caution, insuring its complete removal, will spread it over wider areas.

"Mild cases of ivy poisoning generally subside within a few days and do not cause alarm, but fatal cases have occurred. When the inflammation is extensive or severe a physician should be consulted. Since the inflammation may continue to develop for several days, while the irritant is slowly absorbed into the tender layers of the skin it is not surprising that remedies tried in the early stages may prove disappointing or that if they are discarded in favor of some other remedy
just as the poison becomes exhausted
the rapid improvement which is then noted may cause the last remedy to be regarded as a sure cure.

"Thorough washing, in the manner described as a preventative, should be tried even after the inflammation has developed, in order to remove from the exposed surfaces of the skin all traces of the poison that can still be reached.

SIMPLE REMEDIES, GOOD

"For the inflammation, simple remedies, such as local applications of solutions of cooking soda, or Epsom salts, one or two heaping teaspoons-ful to a cup of water are generally as helpful as any. Fluid extract of grind-elia, diluted with 4 to 8 parts of water is often used. Solutions of this kind may be applied with light hand-ages or clean cloths which should be kept moist and should also be changed and discarded frequently in order to avoid infection. During the night when moist applications can not be used, the poisoned surfaces should be carefully cleaned and dried and left exposed to the air rather than tightly bandaged. Immersing the poisoned parts for several minutes in water as hot as can be borne or applying hot towels where this is impracticable is much recommended for the itching.
This measure increases the discomfort at the moment of application, but is followed by a period of great relief.
A simple formula useful both at this and the early stages is the following, which may be dabbed on the poisoned parts after thorough cleansing or applied by saturating one of two thicknesses of a light bandage:
Zinc oxid 15 grams. Phenol 2 grams, and lime water to make 250 cubic centimeters.

Barbers Have "Large" Time At Their Annual Picnic

Hugo Dresely outpointed "Tony,
the Greek" in a six round fistio duel
at the annual barbers picnic Sunday at Shawano lake. Although the match was awarded to Dresely by the third man in the ring, who was William E. Smith, many of "Tony's" backers still claim that their favorite won the fight on a foul when Dresely tripped
"The Greek" and then pretended it was a blow that felled him in the third round, which was deciding period. Referee Smith claimed he didn't see the alleged foul.

John Deltgen and Chester Smith,
batteries for one team and W. J.
Prink and Fay Smith, batteries of the opposing team struggled through a 12 inning game which ended 4 and 3 in favor of the Smith-Prink outfit.
Umpire John Kruetzman fled from the field in fear of his life, it is said,
following the game.
The game was tied through the 12th inning when "Bill" Smith of the Cozy Barber shop gained first on a fluke hit into the infield, raced second on a sacrifice, stole third, and came home almost simultaneously with the ball. The umpire declared

Smith was safe but the crowd claimed otherwise. John Deltgen captain of the losing nine, said Monday morning, that he would protest the game.

A tug-of-war was won by a team headed by Hugo Dresely from a crew captained by William Nabbefeld.
The two teams broke four one inch ropes before a steel cable was obtained. After an hours struggle without either team gaining an inch one of the men on the Nabbefeld side suddenly sneezed and in the sec-ond's relapse of his pull on the cable
the Dresely outfit had won the match.

W. J. Prink won a boat race when an oar on the leading boat which was manned by Martin Kuehl broke. Kuehl continued to row with one oar but he didn't know enough about navigation to be able to make the boat travel in a straight line.
Prink claimed he would have won
without the handicap.
The group of 25 barbers left Appleton at 8 o'clock Sunday morning and

MISSIONARY TALKS ON WORK IN STATE

The Rev. O. C. Chapin of Phelps, a missionary sent to northern Wisconsin by First Congregational church, occupied the pulpit of the local church Sunday and told of the mission work by himself and Mrs. Chapin among the immigrants and foreign settlers in Wisconsin cutover lands. Mr. and Mrs. Chapin minister to a large number of Finnish people who recently settled in the northern part of the state. Mr. Chapin said the Congregational church has established six mission Sunday schools for these people within the last few years. The Rev. H. E. Peabody occupied the pulpit of Mr. Chapin's church at Phelps on Sunday.

had dinner at Shawano Lake Inn and supper at a near by cottage.
Some of the men spent the day in fishing and John Milbow was able to tell the biggest fish story (and back it up with the goods) so he was declared king of the fishermen.
(P. S. The reporter who wrote this story says he won't vouch for its accuracy inasmuch as it was given to him by the barbers. He says he has a sneaking suspicion there might be a few exaggerations in the report.)

MILWAUKEE BOY SCOUT DROWNS NEAR SHERWOOD

Youth Stays in Water After Other Boys Leave for Their

While making fancy dives and clown's stunts in Lake Winnebago at Claybank, about three miles south of seized with a cramp and was drowned

at about 5 o'clock Saturday night.
The boy arrived at Claybank Saturday morning with a group of Boy Scouts from Milwaukee who were to spend the week camping.
The boys had been swimming Saturday evening and all left the water except the Schuster lad who remained to do tricks in the water. He was seized with a cramp and went down in water about 9 feet deep. The boy was dead when the body was taken to shore. The body was returned to
